SPRING TRAINING HIGHLIGHTS

Special thanks to:

- Patti Crescenti for creating and sharing a wonderful newspaper template to augment lesson materials.
- Heidi Versteeg, for lending her rap expertise to demonstrate the Carlsbad Government Rap.
- Dan Ryan, for greeting and signing in volunteers with a cheerful smile and positive attitude.
- Lisa Stavenga, new to our CityStuff family of volunteers, for recruiting four phenomenal volunteers to CityStuff 2008.

Magnolia Elementary third-grade teacher, Mrs. Seelig, assists students as they answer the Five Ws: Who, What, When, Where and Why for a CityStuff Making Headlines activity.

Magnolia Elementary third-grade students in Mrs. Seelig's class work on newspaper articles for an assigned layout section to create a CityStuff classroom newspaper.

SPECIAL GUEST APPEARANCE – CARLSBAD FIRE DEPARTMENT STATION 1

CityStuff volunteer and City of Carlsbad Public Works Secretary, Shea Sainz, arranged for Carlsbad Fire Department Station 1 to be special guests for Jefferson Elementary CityStuff third-graders. A captivated audience, the students and teachers listened intently to a presentation on fire safety.

Captain Louis Osuna and Engineer Bill Mullins provide Jefferson Elementary CityStuff students with an overview of fire fighter safety, while Paramedic Rourke Griffin suits up.

VOLUNTEERS PROUDLY SHARE THEIR CITYSTUFF EXPERIENCES

Ryn Spiering, President, Poinsettia Elementary PTA

The program is brilliantly designed to capture the attention of third-graders and engage them in hands on learning. I really enjoyed presenting the lessons each week and the kids looked forward to it too.

Dave Garber

"All in all I would say it was the most rewarding six weeks I have ever had!.... and that's over and above the 33 years that I owned my own business. Not only were the children fun but both teachers were just wonderful."

HATS OFF TO CITYSTUFF 2008 SPONSORS!

We are proud to recognize the magnanimous support of Poseidon Resource Corporation for underwriting the printing of the When Carlsbad Became A City booklets and Waste Management's valuable contribution for the printing of the 2008 City Council Photo Chart and CityStuff Kids Want To Know Questionnaire. Waste Management's District Manager, Ken Ryan, summed up his personal CityStuff experience while receiving recognition by the Carlsbad City Council.

"Waste Management is pleased to be a sponsor again for CityStuff. It's a wonderful program and a great third-grade civics lesson for the kids of Carlsbad. I have had the good fortune to actually teach the program in the classroom and several of our employees have also had the chance to be in the classroom for the kids. I'd encourage anybody out there in the audience to put their hand up to volunteer to interact with the kids on such a great program – so we're pleased to help out."
